

North Fork Road in the news

Michael Richeson's, "Dust study finished: Now what?" posted June 12, 2008, on Kalispell Daily Inter Lake Web site reports on the results of the University of Montana dust study, commissioned by the North Fork Road Coalition for Health and Safety. Comments follow the story.

The Aug. 19 Daily Inter Lake contained several stories by Michael Richeson, followed by comments, about dusty gravel roads in Flathead County:

- "Citizen groups rise up to counter road dust"—namely the the North Fork Road Coalition for Health and Safety and Flathead Citizens for Paved Roads;
- "Road dust solutions elusive" examines Flathead County's limited resources for dust abatement, along with several alternative funding, and bureaucratic possibilities outside the county;
- "Hit the road, dust" includes interviews with Flathead County officials.